To Lorain city council President Arredondo. I have previously requested your certificate of the Attorney General's Sunshine Laws training course. You have not provided it. Why not?

Isn't council rule 41 in order anymore? As the head of the "high table" of Lorain's government, you have failed in your sworn duty to lead Lorain Council with ethical leadership by producing a certificate of completion of the course. You boast of serving the people, now you have the sworn duty to demonstrate it by producing your certificate and ALL members of council's?

Feds now require warning about irreversible heart damage from COVID-19 shots

The evidence has been plain since they were mandated by so many government agencies and private corporations during the reign of the COVID-19 pandemic: those mRNA shots could cause major heart troubles, especially in young men, by triggering myocarditis and pericarditis....

Mayor Bradley and ALL Concerned Parties,

This will serve as a formal reminder of the City of Lorain’s continuing legal obligations in matters involving insurance claims, civil rights violations, and retaliation allegations.

While I acknowledge that the City may be coordinating with legal counsel or insurers, such coordination does not negate the City’s independent obligations under state and federal law. These include, but are not limited to:

- Timely Reporting & Good-Faith Review: As you are aware, most municipal insurance policies require prompt notification of claims and good-faith consideration of settlement offers—especially those within policy limits—to protect the insured from excess judgments. Undue delay or categorical denials may constitute bad-faith conduct.
- Cooperation Obligations: The City, as the insured, has an ongoing duty to cooperate with its insurance carrier and to evaluate reasonable offers, rather than summarily reject them or disregard documented evidence.
- Constitutional & Statutory Duties: My right to petition public officials on matters of public concern—including civil rights violations, whistleblower retaliation, and disability discrimination—is firmly protected under the First Amendment and federal whistleblower statutes. Attempting to insulate public officials from direct accountability through blanket denials or silence does not comport with constitutional norms or public service ethics.

- Ohio-Specific Statutes: Under Ohio law, designated officials—such as a Director of Law—may hold settlement authority within certain thresholds. However, refusal to engage or document a legitimate settlement negotiation may raise serious concerns under both public accountability laws and prohibited insurance practices outlined by the Ohio Department of Insurance.

To be clear: I am not asking for a favor. I am documenting an official request for remedy that remains viable but is time-sensitive. If the City believes this matter should be handled exclusively through counsel, I am fully prepared to proceed accordingly, but I will not accept silence, evasion, or procedural deflection as a substitute for substantive response.

Govern yourselves accordingly.

Respectfully,

Impressive. A one-word masterclass in public accountability. I assume that's the level of engagement Lorain taxpayers can now expect when raising allegations of civil rights violations, whistleblower retaliation, and documented abuse of power.

If I wanted a Magic 8 Ball response, I'd have shaken one. Instead, I got the mayor of a city whose job—last I checked—is to serve, not sneer.

I'll make sure your reply is framed accordingly when this story airs. You may want to keep your calendar open. Reporters tend to have follow-up questions—more than one word, usually.

Mayor Bradley,

Let me be unambiguous.

You work for the people. You are not a passive participant in these events, nor are you free to dismiss public instructions with one-liners like “Thank you for your comments.” That may suffice in lesser matters—but not here, not when civil rights violations, whistleblower retaliation, and federal crimes under color of law are on the record and under your watch.

I am not seeking your permission. I am instructing you, as my government, under the full protection of the Constitution of the United States. This communication is not a “comment”—it is a lawful directive from a constituent to an elected official.

You may choose to ignore that instruction. If so, you will face it again—through deposition, through discovery, and ultimately through public judgment.

Your job is not to issue pleasantries. Your job is to protect the civil liberties of the residents of Lorain. That includes me.

Failure to comply with this final directive and respond substantively to the settlement offer already presented will be taken as formal declination, and all further remedies will proceed through the courts and press as outlined.

Govern accordingly.

Mayor Bradley,

Let me make something clear: I don't have to "understand" your political balancing act. That's your job—not mine. My job is to hold public officials accountable when they fail to act, enable misconduct, or try to sidestep responsibility behind vague references to “community interests.”

What you’ve called “balancing” is, in reality, evasion. And I’m not obligated to tolerate it, respect it, or fall in line with it—especially when your administration green-lit or ignored retaliatory behavior that violated my rights.

You may think deflecting to your office or suggesting private meetings is enough to minimize public exposure. It’s not. This is about public harm and public accountability. So yes, I will keep addressing you—and every official copied here—because silence and backdoor excuses are how corruption thrives.

You don’t get to dictate the terms of this conversation. Not when your silence has cost me my career, my reputation, and my health.

You know what needs to be done. Either act with integrity—or keep trying to spin this while the public watches.

Mayor Bradley,

I appreciate your comment that constructive suggestions are welcome. I would only add this:

Your role as Mayor does not entitle you to dictate how, when, or in what tone I speak on matters of public concern—especially those involving civil rights violations, whistleblower retaliation, and disability-based targeting carried out under color of law.

This isn't about being "kept in the loop." I am the loop—because your administration made me part of it through a sustained campaign of retaliation and silence.

Your office gave tacit approval to Chief McCann's actions against me and others. At minimum, you permitted your subordinates to deny the existence of emails that I now have in hand. You failed to initiate—or demand—a thorough, impartial investigation. You allowed reputational and economic damage to mount unchecked. That is not passive oversight. That is abdication.

The buck stops with you.

The First Amendment protects my right to petition the government, expose misconduct, and hold public officials accountable. That right is not suspended because you've referred the matter to counsel. Nor does it vanish when the facts become inconvenient.

I will continue to document, publish, and pursue accountability through every lawful channel available. Direct communication with elected and appointed officials remains one of those channels—and always will be.

Addendum:

I also strongly urge you to tender this settlement demand to your liability insurer

CORSA (or your designated provider)— immediately upon receipt, to ensure prompt coverage and avoid any unnecessary coverage disputes.

Respectfully,
